

Fairlight Platinum

For Reason 6 and upwards

The new Fairlight Platinum ReFill, introduced December 2011, is similar to its siblings Fairlight II+ and XXL but features over 300 new patches as well as better organization of the files and it is made with and for Reason 6. The Fairlight II+ and XXL refills are still available, made for Reason 4 and 5, respectively.

These refills and sound banks introduces the world's largest Fairlight sound collection, and the Fairlight sounds are used with kind permission from Peter Vogel, Fairlight Instruments Pty, Australia. As you can see from studying the patch lists, the refills also contains a large number of other instruments and drum machines. We have done this in order to present the Fairlight sound in its natural environment; it was always surrounded by other synthesizers, even samplers, and effects. The library aims to not only give you the Fairlight sound, but also the sound people got with it on records, using various tricks such as overdubbing, MIDling (layering), effects and so on. By using the NNXT (or Kontakt) patches alone, you get the raw Fairlight sound; by using our Combinator patches you get a contemporary sound comparable to and often superior to any present day instrument, whether you use hardware or software.

440 - Sequential Studio 440

Sequential's Studio 440 was their take on the MPC concept; a machine with sampling, drum kits and sequencing. To make it easier finding sounds, the Combinator patches for the 440 has been renamed to UCV 440 as the UCV - Undercover - module is used for various percussion and drum sounds.

CMI - The Fairlight CMI library

Here's the very core of the refill - the Fairlight CMI sounds, a bank of highly desirable, most classic sampled sounds. These sounds have been used on albums with A-ha, Pet Shop Boys, Kate Bush, Peter Gabriel and many many others. We have not used automatic loop functions, we have worked for hours and hours exactly duplicating the Fairlight's original loop points. There is no other vintage sampler library in the world that does this. If you want the real Fairlight sound, this is dope.

DGT - Dig It All

This is our own digital software synth, developed right in the Reason rack, using the Combinator and working hard to make it sound just as good as digital classics like PPG Wave, D-50, DX7, VZ-1 and many more. The sounds are built using samples from the real instruments, giving your Reason rack more of the real sound. A sound you most probably never heard from Reason before.

EIII - The Emulator Three

Not restricting ourselves to the Fairlight, we have also meticulously sampled a mint condition E-mu Emulator III sampler. We also sampled some EII sounds using an Oberheim DPX sample player, both specifically obtained and borrowed for the development of this sound library.

JX - Orlando JX

The Orlando JX module collects samples taken from our own JX8P and JX10 synthesizers. Legendary for their ultimately fat sounds, and also for their MIDI timing issues. You won't have problems like that with the sounds in the refill. A new skin design for Platinum here as well.

P5 - Prophet 5

If there ever was a vintage, really classic synthesizer, it must be the Prophet 5. Released in 1978, it was one of the world's first programmable, polyphonic synths and it sounds just great. We have sampled all of the P5's factory presets.

As the Prophet 5 just had a two digit display for its patch "names", these sounds are numbered equally. By the way, the Prophet 5, the Orlando JX and Flux sound banks are also available from us, as separate banks.

XUF - Flux

Flux was just introduced as a stand-alone refill and we have also incorporated this fantastic sound bank into the Fairlight refill. The Flux instruments are designed to behave like a software synthesizer in its full glory, featuring the ability to tweak the sounds just like Reason's own Malström synth. Clever Reason programming and cool samples makes Flux come together.
